

DAY OF THE AFRICAN CHILD : Quantity and Quality of Water in AFRICAN SCHOOLS

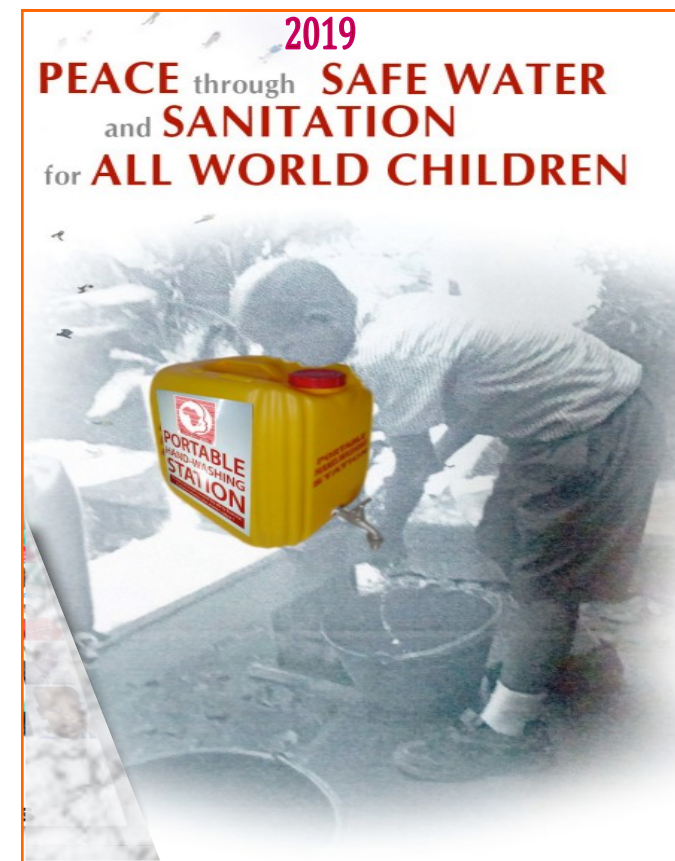

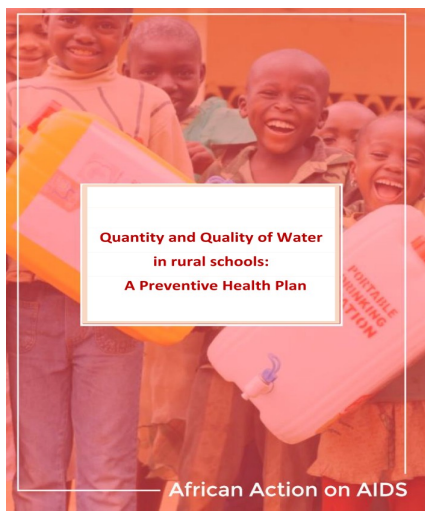

Your contributions keep us going! Please send a tax-exempt check payable to one of African Action on AIDS' addresses below

Since 1991, THE DAY OF THE AFRICAN CHILD has been celebrated. While important voices are calling for serious introspection and commitment towards addressing the many challenges that African children face in 2020, AAA draws global attention once again on the following: Water-related diseases are the biggest killer of children around the world, mostly in Africa, claiming at least 4000 lives a day! While we renew the AAA 2019 message on the picture below

We also draw attention on the link and needed efforts related to the fight against the Corona Virus that focus on Hands washing and Sanitation. <http://africanactiononaid.org/outcomes/>

THE SOLUTION: Through QUANTITY AND QUALITY WATER, we can build Water Wells in all schools, while enabling communities set up and manage water and sanitation systems that will boost the immune system of all, decreasing school absenteeism due to water borne diseases and establishing true SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT. Happy Day of the African Child!
